

THE MIMING GAME

Cut out the little squares containing the words and put them in a bag. These are the things you have to mime.

Set up two teams of two to five people each. Toss a coin to determine which team will go first. (Each of the players will take a turn miming according to the alphabetic order of the team members' first names.)

The starting player must pull a word out of the bag and act it out in front of the two teams. The object of the game is to figure out the word as quickly as possible. When a player figures out a word, his or her team gets a point.

Continue with the first player from the other team (according to the alphabetical order of first names). The first team to total 10 points wins the match.

You can use other words from this book, if you like. Just add them to the ones that haven't been acted out yet, and start another match.
